Walter Forrester's Letter.

FRANKFORT, KY., Nov. 19.—Mark Hanna's affection for Gov. Bradley is touching and only equalled by the governor's regard for the Ohio boss. When Hanna last spring wired the Kentucky governor a rather imperative message about calling an extra session of the Legislature, he got an answer that fairly took his breath away and set the whole country to laughing at him; for Gov. Bradley sent him word to mind his own business. And Hanna gets mad now whenever he hears Gov. Bradley's name mentioned.

Not long ago Mr. W. B. Haldeman, of Louisville, met Hanna in the East and they chatted a few minutes. As Mr. Haldeman was leaving he inquired: "Senator, is there any message you would like to send to your friend, Gov. Bradley?"

The little Scotchman began to swell up with wrath; he got purple in the face as he roared: "God d— Bradley!"

Mr. Haldeman says that the emotion with which Hanna swore this prayer for the ruler of Kentucky left no doubt as to the sincerity, for once at least, of the very insincere Ohio politician. And Gov. Bradley enjoyed the story more than anything that has come his way in a long time.

There is only one man just now that Hanna hates more cordially than Gov. Bradley, and that is Senator Joseph Benson Foraker. And Foraker hates McKinley and Hanna. I was with Foraker at the St. Nicholas Hotel in St. Louis the night before McKinley's nomination, while Foraker was chairman of the committee on resolutions. Senator and Mrs. Foraker had arranged a little dinner for that night and they had invited Gov. Hastings, of Pennsylvania, Fred Grant and a half dozen others. Mrs. Foraker and the guests had waited for some time in hoping that the Senator could join them, and he had just come out of the committee in a sweat literally and figuratively, to tell them that the committee might be in session all night and they would have to dine without him. A crowd of us newspaper fellows who were loitering about the hotel at once nailed Foraker to know when he could give us an advance copy of his speech putting McKinley in nomination. He declared that he hadn't thought about it, but we pressed on him that all the newspapers of the country were clamoring for the speech so they could have it in type. "You fellows must think I'm going to make a hit of a speech," snorted the Senator. We all assured him that it was expected to be the speech of the convention, as it was the naming of the next president. For a moment Foraker looked us over with a wicked light in his eye, and then dryly remarked as he turned away: "What do you suppose I would do if I was going to nominate a friend?"

When Hanna was trying to get Gov. Bushnell to appoint him Senator to succeed Sherman, it was understood that Foraker was opposing the appointment. I talked with Hanna about it and he declared with great emphasis that Foraker was a "d—d fool." Then I talked with Foraker and he quietly remarked that if anybody wanted a fight he was always ready. "In fact," continued the Senator, "I would always rather fight than compromise, for my experience has been that the fruits of victory won on the field of battle are always sweeter than the products of barter."

But Hanna preferred barter to battle and he did business with Foraker's lieutenant in Cincinnati, "Boss" Cox, "Coxey, old boy." Foraker did not approve of the deal, but his friends wanted Federal plunder and they traded with Hanna. Last election Cox and his crowd bit the dust. Hereafter they will take Foraker's advice and fight.

Few people know why Foraker hates McKinley so. His own explanation is that when McKinley was first a candidate for governor he sent for him and asked his aid. Foraker agreed but stipulated that McKinley should not interfere in the Senatorial struggle between Foraker and Sherman. Foraker says that he went to Columbus with a majority of the republican members of the Legislature pledged to him. Within 24 hours, he says, he found his strength melting away as the result of Gov. McKinley's work against him. Then he says he went to McKinley and served notice on him that he would get even with him. Up to this writing Foraker has had to swallow a great deal, but such swallow or many such, do not infuse a spring time of halecyon harmony in the breast of Joseph Benson Foraker. And President McKinley and Marcus Anselmus Hanna know that the Senator still "owes them one." That is why Hanna and the president are so anxious to keep the Ohio Machine in good working order.

WALTER FORRESTER.

LANCASTER.

Col. W. G. Welch was here Thursday on professional business.

Mr. Hugh M. Grant is the father of a fine boy, born Friday.

As this (Monday) is county and circuit court, a large crowd is gathering into town.

Mr. John M. Farra, who is now located at Nicholasville, was here with relatives and friends Sunday.

Hon. George T. Farris has taken the road for a Louisville shoe house until the Legislature convenes.

The Thanksgiving sermon will be preached at the Presbyterian church Thursday at 11 o'clock by Rev. W. L. Clark, of the Methodist church.

The Chrysanthemum show given by the ladies of the Presbyterian church was well attended and being very attractive, yielded a handsome sum.

Mr. Letcher Owsley has returned from Louisville, by the way of Elizabethtown, which city has a magnetic personality who draws him from a direct line.

The ladies of the Christian church realized about $45 from the supper given at the Mason House Thursday night. The enterprise was liberally patronized and everybody fared sumptuously.

Mr. T. J. Hatcher has a medal two inches in diameter, one side having a picture of Gen. T. J. (Stonewall) Jackson and the other a list of the 21 battles in which the general was engaged, and in all of which he was victorious. The owner values it beyond any price, having served under him during the war.

Mr. Rudolph Tschane, of Switzerland, got a license Friday to wed Miss Julia Anderson, of the east end of this county. On Saturday Chief of Police E. M. Walker received a telegram from Louisville, telling him to arrest him on the charge of obtaining money under false pretense. As he was in the county, Mr. Walker did not make the arrest.

The happening of ordinary events is usually reckoned by the time at which some important event occurred in the community. For instance, we say certain events occurred before or after the war, others about the time of the Hill and Evans feud, others when the first rope fair was held in Judge Robinson's woods. In South-eastern Kentucky they reckon from the year the elephant passed through. Future happenings in this county will be reckoned from the year that Letcher Owsley beat Clell Johnston. Dave Ross beat Rice Benge and other democrats were elected, breaking the backbone of the republican party.

The turnpike owners met with the fiscal court Friday and priced about 70 miles of the roads at prices ranging from $300 to $1,300 per mile, aggregating about $62,000 and averaging nearly $900 per mile. Some few miles not in good condition will be given to the county and some was priced low enough, while it is claimed that some of the roads are priced too high, although they have been a good investment at the prices asked. There are about 95 miles in all. A committee was appointed, two men by the court and one by the owners of the roads, to fix a value on the pikes that will be satisfactory to all parties. It is hoped that the committee will soon report and that the vexatious question will be finally and amicably settled.

The illustrated lecture at the Presbyterian church, Hustonville Friday night, "A Day in New York," by Ed H. Edwards, proved to be quite a treat. It was given for the benefit of the Sunday School, and a snug sum was realized. The lecture cannot be classed with the average illustrated productions, for the scenes are realistic in the extreme, and the pleasing and forceful manner in which Mr. Edwards described the various views of the metropolis, the bay and the naval vessels were a pleasant surprise to the audience.

A young woman of much local reputation as an artist, Miss Clara Hoffman, of Cincinnati, has just died, her physicians declare, from the shock occasioned by her sweetheart, with whom she was boating, suddenly disrobing and plunging into the water for a bath. The reprehensible action preyed on the girl's mind and transformed her admiration and love for him into loathing and she slowly succumbed to a brain disease.

Ruffianism can prevail here only at the peril of all the legal authority, and the ruffians are evidently in full control in Jessamine county. They should be subjugated at any cost and punished to the furthest extent provided by law.

—Louisville Commercial.

A. A. Edwards' building at Pineville, in which the post-office was kept, was burned, together with Henry Harris' restaurant and Leonard Slusher's uncompleted building. Loss $6,000.

Henry Clay Johnson was hanged at St. Louis for murdering a newsboy.

MT. VERNON.

Harry Glazebrook, of Louisville, is out enjoying the hunting season with W. J. Sparks.

A large flock of wild turkeys was seen near town recently by E. W. Hummel near his home.

The infant son of Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Miller was buried here last Friday afternoon. It had whooping cough.

Conductor Gregory came out all right about cutting the crossing, but was rather incensed at the harsh language used by officers here.

Milton Newcomb, an aged and respected citizen of this place, was stricken with paralysis last Saturday morning. His recovery is doubtful.

A. R. Scott received large orders for ballast while out in the mountains. His quarry is near the track and they furnish a fine quality of ballast. Rockcastle has wealth in her quarries of fine stone.

The recital last Friday evening was attended by a large and appreciative audience. Mrs. Kirby's readings were loudly enjoyed. The able manner in which the members of her class acquitted themselves evinced her ability as a teacher. Her class has already increased in numbers.

Rev. J. S. Forrer preached two fine sermons here Sunday. The people regret to learn that they have to give Bro. Forrer up as their pastor, his health requiring a change of climate. He will go to California the first of next year. He is an eloquent and earnest worker in the vineyard.

Dr. John Lawrence died at his home here last Sunday night. He had been a constant sufferer for some time, but grew rapidly worse until death ended his sufferings. His brothers and mother were faithful attendants at his bedside. He had made many friends during his sojourn here.

Dr. J. F. Peyton was in town Saturday. Prof. Reppert and wife were up from Orlando last week. Miss Rachel Scott, of Danville, is the guest of her brother, A. R. Scott. Jas. Hook, Sr., is quite ill. Master Eugene Mullins won the medal at college Wednesday evening. Miss Lola Hansel is quite ill. Miss Bessie McClure has returned from Parksville. Dr. Davis has been improving his residence. Miss Fannie Mullins won the silver medal in the W. C. T. U. contest.

MATRIMONIAL.

A young couple were married in Wisconsin by the mother of the bride, who is a magistrate.

Frank Lowry, aged 17, and Miss Susie Yost, 14, eloped to Washington, Ind., and were married.

Chancellor Sneed, at Memphis, holds that marriage extinguishes all debts one of the contracting parties owes another.

William Moody, a popular young man of Augusta, Ga., committed suicide shortly after a quarrel with his bride of two months.

H. D. Cambron and Mrs. Teresa Carico were married at Raywick. The groom is 63 years of age and the bride 62.—Lebanon Falcon.

A 13-year-old school girl who married U. S. Williams at Noblesville, Ind., on a public road two weeks ago, is asking for a divorce.

Miss Bettie Dowling, of Seymour, Ind., has just celebrated her 101st birthday. She has the unique distinction of being the oldest old maid in America.

Bob Lincoln needn't cut up so fantastically because his daughter ran off and married a base ball player. He forgets that his old daddy used to be a ball splitter.

John J. Overton, aged 100 years and one month, was married to Mrs. Mary Henderson, aged 77 years, in St. Joe. This is believed to be the record for marriage of old people. Both bride and groom are in excellent health.

There are 9,361 more divorced men than divorced women in the country. This indicates that men are more teachable than women. The men profit by experience, but the women hurry right off to get in the same scrape again.—New York Press.

The Grant county fiscal court at Williamsburg has stirred up the pie eaters by reducing the yearly salaries of county officials, as follows: County judge, from $700 to $600; county attorney, from $500 to $450 and county school superintendent, from $900 to $750.

Mrs. Mary Shannon, a beautiful and robust young woman, is a section boss on the road at Hartford City, Ind. Her husband was killed by the cars and the company gave her his position, which she fills with satisfaction to it.

For the 13th consecutive year we are in receipt of an attractive Columbia pad calendar, which is a very useful memorandum book, filled with bright, readable thoughts and attractive pictures.

At a conference held by Mormons in Indianapolis, it was decided to put more missionaries into Kentucky.

POLITICS.

The Richmond, Va., State, founded 22 years ago by James Hampden Chamberlayne, who died a dozen years since, has suspended.

Albert Bertram, the democrat thought to be elected to the Legislature in Wayne and Clinton, has been counted out and will contest.

John C. Duffy, democrat, defeated for the Legislature in Christian county by Dr. Andrew Seargent, republican, has filed notice of contest, with a dozen good grounds.

The Somerset Paragon accuses Commonwealth's Attorney Stout, of that district, of indulging in habits that unfit him for the proper performance of the duties of his office.

The Barksville Herald announces in its last issue that it is out of politics. As its editor was elected on the same ticket with a Negro, most people think it got out of politics none too soon.—Glasgow News.

Speaking of their resolutions denouncing Senator Lindsay and asking him to resign, the Harrodsburg Signal says: Our Barren county friends have succeeded admirably in making themselves ridiculous.

City Judge-elect Cecil Pence, of Covington, may have a contest on his hands because his resignation as Legislator did not reach the governor until after his election as judge, the two offices being incompatible.

Mr. Bryan tells this story: Last week I was on a train out West, when a man remarked that he could tell the politics of every passenger by his looks. "For instance that man," pointing to one, "is a democrat." "Correct," replied the man. "And that one is a republican." "Yes, that's my politics," was the answer. "That man over there is a populist." "Right" was the response. "The one near the door is a gold standard man," continued the fellow who knew it all. "You are mistaken," responded the sad eyed man. "I'm sick. That's what makes me look so badly." And the laugh went around.

The Interior Journal suggests the name of Hon. Robert J. Breckinridge, of Danville, for the position of attorney general in the race to be run year after next. The Signal and our people generally, most heartily endorse the nomination. Judge Breckinridge was for some time judge of the court of common pleas in this district and we can bear witness of his eminent fitness and qualifications for not only the attorney general's office, but for any position within the gift of the people. A lawyer of the highest ability, a debater, a writer, stump speaker and campaigner who has never been downed by any opponent. Rockcastle remembers the judge's unselfish services in more than one campaign in the mountains and will rally to his support with enthusiasm and vigor.—Mt. Vernon Signal.

RELIGIOUS.

Dr. Carrodine's meeting at Glasgow resulted in 45 sanctifications.

Rev. W. S. Grinstead will preach at McKinley at 2:30 next Sunday afternoon, 28th.

Rev. George H. Hickox, for 25 years chaplain of the Michigan State prison, is dead, aged 75.

The Methodist church which had Sam Jones to lecture at Harrodsburg, lost $50 on the venture.

Rev. S. M. Rankin, of Jackson, preached two good sermons at the Presbyterian church Sunday.

Eld. E. L. Powell, of Louisville, has just closed a revival at the Christian church in Paris, which resulted in 18 additions.

The last meeting of the year of the Y. P. S. C. E. of Mt. Xenia, will be held at that place Sunday afternoon next. A full attendance is requested. Rev. Dew will arrive to-day and there will be services morning and night at the Baptist church. Thanksgiving services, in which all the denominations will unite, will be held Thursday morning.

Rev. J. B. Crouch said in his sermon Sunday night that according to authentic statistics only 5 per cent of the young men of America are members of churches and he plead with Stanford mothers to look after their boys.

The meeting of Eld. George Gowen resulted in 22 confessions and closed Sunday night at the Hubble Christian church. Some 25 or 30 Stanford people went out there Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock to hear him preach, in which sermon he stated that he was laboring in that section to build up no particular denomination, but to bring sinners to Christ.

The Baptist Recorder contains a notice of the death of Rev. J. M. Cole man, which occurred at Springfield, Mo. He was born in Mercer county, Ky., in 1846 and after he was set apart for the ministry, moved to Lincoln county and served the churches at McKimney, Hustonville and Middleburg. He married Miss Selecta Jones, of Mt. Salem, and she with six children survive him.

THE INTERIOR JOURNAL

STANFORD, KY., - Nov. 23, 1897

W. P. WALTON.

It is the easiest thing in the world for electricity to kill a man when it is not intended and the hardest apparently when it is. Nearly every day we read of people being killed by coming in contact with live wires, but when they are placed in contact with them it is a different thing. In the Ohio penitentiary Friday, Albert Frantz was seated in the electrocution chair and doctors and experts proceeded to kill him. After strapping him securely and applying the electrode to his dampened head, 1,700 volts were turned on, enough to kill half a dozen men. But it didn't kill him, nor did he die till the same number of volts had been turned on five separate times. Failure to get the electrode in the right place is given as the reason for the bungling job. Frantz deserved the miserably prolonged death that he died, however. He killed a trusting girl, after ruining her, and threw her body into a river. He died with a lie on his lips too, his last words being: "I am prepared to die. I have made my peace with God." As if such a fiend could make peace with Him, Who said no murderer can inherit the Kingdom of Heaven.

TURNPIKE raiders seem to be in the majority in Jessamine or they have all the best men cowed. Nearly every gate in the county has been destroyed and no effort was made till Saturday to stay the hand of the midnight marauders. The officers and people may wink at this lawlessness now, but they will live to regret that they permitted it. They are sowing the wind now to reap the whirlwind. If one kind of property can be destroyed at will or rendered valueless all others can, and it won't be long till it is attempted. If a short stop is not put to the violence of the miscreants who have set aside all law. There is no excuse nor justification for their acts. It is pure and unadulterated lawlessness and meanness, which the shot gun in the hands of determined men can very soon check. Let the officers of Jessamine do their duty and wipe out the foul blot that is being put on her name. Turnpike raiding and all other lawlessness must be made odious, even if those who engage in it have to be shot down like dogs. The turnpikes can be freed by lawful means and no other means should be permitted.

THE juries at Newport, which returned verdicts for 20 years each against the first two of the dozen assailants of Mrs. Gleason, have put a premium on such offenses and made lynch law almost indispensable. These men committed the foulest of crimes and on the proof of guilt, three jurors hung out against the death penalty. The woman was taken from her husband by the men and treated so brutally that she has since been unable to walk. And now two of the brutes are permitted to escape the penalty he so richly deserves. It is a complete travesty of justice and a breeder of mob violence.

THE Pulaski jury, that lent a willing ear to the story of James Hollars, who swore his dead father did the murder he was on trial for, is responsible for another murder. Hollars went home and killed Robert Erb, making his escape as before. If he is ever captured, he ought to try to get the same fool jury to try his case. It is doubtless the only one that could be found, who would have believed his gauzy story.

NEARLY all of the district papers have commented our article with reference to the Congressional race in this district and several, notably the Spencer Courier, Mt. Vernon Signal and Richmond Register copied it in full. The editors seem a little shy yet of expressing themselves, but even Gov. McCreary's opponents admit that if he is nominated he will be elected.

THE Secretary of the Interior says the pension rolls will be increased to $156,000,000 next year, but after that it will rapidly decrease. We have been hearing of that decrease so long we have grown weary. Thirty-three years after the war and $156,000,000! Highway robbery isn't a circumstance to it.

JOHN B. THOMPSON says that the republicans will never run Davison for Congress again, because the democrats would have too much fun with him. It will be remembered that Mr. Thompson had some fun with him last year, but found to his sorrow that Davison had the last laugh on him.

A REPORT has been going the rounds to the effect that Jack Chinn would be a candidate for Congress in this district. This takes the entire bakery. "Congressman Chinn." Just think of it.—Lancaster Record. Bad, we admit, but what could be worse than Congressman Davison? Think of that!

GREEN R. KELLER, editor of the Carlisle Mercury, is a candidate for assistant clerk of the House, without opposition. This sterling democrat has filled the position admirably before and we are glad to know will do so again.

It makes a great deal of difference whose ox is gored. If we remember correctly, the London Echo thought it was a mighty good joke when another paper was set up here and grew hilarious over the prospect of seeing it run us from the field. Now a democratic paper is to be started in its town and it doesn't think it is so funny. On the contrary it says what we said all the time, that it was an impossibility to run two papers in a one paper town. If the old one is any account at all, it will survive and see the new comer tuck its little toes under the daisies. Another paper here had no effect whatever on our business, which has increased right along in face of so-called opposition. All you have to do Brer Dyche, is to keep in the middle of the road, looking neither to the right nor the left, and you may be sure if your paper proves to be the fittest, it will survive.

LEADING democrats from all parts of the State met Hon. W. J. Bryan and Senator J. K. Jones, chairman of the National committee, at Louisville, Saturday, and had a regular love feast. Both gentlemen made speeches congratulating Kentucky over her recent victory, which they claim was for bimetalism. The Louisville Dispatch was highly eulogized for its part in the victory and a committee appointed for each Congressional district to help build up its circulation and secure subscriptions to its capital stock. Gov. McCreary was present and took an active part in the proceedings.

THE returns have at last been received at Frankfort and a compilation of them shows that Shackelford received 186,466 votes, Bailey 168,758; Hindman 9,563; Parker 7,274 and Wallace 1,732. This gives Shackelford 17,708 plurality and nearly as many votes as all the opposition combined. It is estimated that each Hindman vote cost the gold standard men at least $5. That is to say the expenses of the campaign made them cost that much. They didn't buy any votes straight out.

STANDARD time was inaugurated 10 years or more ago and since then every town in the country had adopted it long since but Winchester, which tried to run a little private time of her own. At last, however, she has had to succumb and last week set her clocks back to standard time. Having lagged superfluously in the rear so long, it will be much harder now for the fossil to keep up with the procession.

THE New York World scents the democratic victory of 1900 and says the democrats do not need to gain another State. They have only to retain New York, New Jersey and Kentucky, re-decided at the last election, to elect the next president, and that they are going to do. Amen!

No less than a dozen republican papers have gone up the spout in Kentucky since the election. It is well. They never will be missed.

Additional Local.

OUR store will be closed next Thursday. Leave orders Wednesday. Higgins & McKinney.

COAL is advancing rapidly, so take advantage of the low prices offered you now. J. H. Baughman & Co.

TURKEYS.—J. K. Christian & Bro. shipped about 10,000 pounds of turkeys to Boston by express Thursday, Friday and Saturday. They are now killing 500 daily.

ONLY two more days till Thanksgiving and no one has sent us a turkey yet. Is it possible that we are going to lose out and have to eat Cincinnati chicken as usual?

THE weather has been like early October for several days, Sunday capping the climax of beauty. The signal service said there would be showers last night and probably cold and fair to-day.

WE will soon have telephonic connection with Louisville via Hustonville, Bradfordsville and Lebanon. The contract has been let for the putting up of a line between Powers, Casey county, and Bradfordsville, where it will connect with the line to Lebanon. Mr. J. T. Sutton, of this place, put in a bid to build the line, but Thomas Murphy, of Casey, had a lower bid.

AT the election of officers for the ensuing term, the Young Ladies' Missionary Society of the Presbyterian church selected Miss Mattie Hopper, president; Miss Annie McKinney, vice president, and Miss Mary Cowen, secretary and treasurer. They will signalize their administration soon by giving an entertainment at Walton's Opera House, of which we will tell more when the details are arranged.

22 YEARS AGO.—In looking over an issue of the INTERIOR JOURNAL published on this date in 1875, we find that hogs were selling at 6¢ to 7¢, cattle at 4¢ to 5¢, wheat at $1.10 and mules at $85. In the same paper notice is made of the purchase by Elder Jos. Ballou of his home on the Danville pike from Mrs. Pamela Hughes for $5,300; the death of Greenup Jones is announced and the marriage of J. C. Florence to Miss Emma Davison, which occurred on the 16th.

J. T. JONES plumber and tinner. Go to the show to-night and enjoy a good performance.

FARMERS, read Higgins & McKinney's ad.

MONEY to loan on farms. Apply to box 198, Stanford.

ALL the grocery stores will be closed on Thanksgiving, we are asked to say.

MISSSES CICERO REYNOLDS, G. S. McKinney, W. B. Hill, and Ex Reynolds are going on a big bird hunt to Casey tomorrow.

LANCASTER COURT.—A fair-sized crowd attended court yesterday but business in all lines was dull. Of the 75 to 100 cattle on the market only about half sold. A bunch of long yearling steers brought $3.10; some extra good steers sold at 3½¢ while butcher stuff was slow at 14 to 20¢. Plug horses brought $10 to $25, aged mules $10 to $65.

THE music for the Logan-Sauley nuptials at the Presbyterian church to-night will be as follows with the following performers: Organist, Mrs. Steele Bailey; violinist, B. H. Danks; cornetist, George Delford; vocalists: Miss Mary Cowen, Mrs. L. B. Cook, Mrs. J. W. Hayden and Messrs. Carl A. Moore, Charles Patterson and J. F. Waters; Intermezzo russe, violin, cornet and organ; bridal chorus from Bridal Rose, full chorus; wedding march, violin, cornet and organ; "O Promise Me" violin and organ; bridal march from Lohengrin, full chorus.

THE Fremont Comedy Co., which comes highly recommended, began a three nights engagement at Walton's Opera House last night with that nonsensical absurdity, "The Professor." The company consists of Misses Annie L. Bates, Trixie Lewis, Edith Marletta and Little Velma and Messrs. W. H. Fremont, W. C. Miner, David Baldrige, W. H. Vedder, Walter Standhope, Prof. Harry F. Saunders, Lou Silver and W. H. Woodside. To-night "Jane or the Bachelor's Dilemma." Wednesday night "Gilhooley's Troubles" will keep the audience in a roar for three hours. Admission 10, 20 and 30¢.

CIRCUIT COURT began at Lancaster yesterday with the following juries: Grand, Henry Patterson, W. H. Miller, Oille Terrill, Mike L. Noe, Baylor Jennings, A. B. Brown, Jr., R. R. Denton, James Herring, Henry Walter, C. K. Polndexter, W. D. Marksbury and Joe Bryant. Petit, J. D. Current, Geo. H. Lane, Henry Miller, S. D. Cochran, Bright Herring, M. D. Hughes, Jerry Bland, Henry Tomlinson, Philip Dalton, Cyrus Doty, Leander Davison, Alex Gibbs, Isaac Cornett, G. H. Ruble, Wm. Sugars, W. N. Grow, Jerry Higgins, A. R. Denny, T. A. Royce, Jesse Doty, W. G. Gooch, W. N. Carter, Robert Austin and Wm. Lear.

JAMES TUDOR will have to take his medicine. The court of appeals denies him a new hearing on his sentence of 21 years for killing Marion Sebastian at Lancaster.
JOHN DUGAN must serve 21 years in the penitentiary for killing John C. Colson, at Middlesboro. The court of appeals affirmed the sentence of the Knox circuit court that tried him.
WRECK.—A freight train on the C. S., broke in two near McKinney and wrecked several cars of granulated sugar, which the citizens were not slow in getting up and carrying off in bags.
THE advertisement of A. B. Robertson & Bro., which takes up a good portion of this page, was received too late for us to issue an extra sheet, but you will find a good deal of reading matter in the paper all the same.
FOR Thanksgiving Dressed Turkeys, Cranberries, Pudding, Pumpkins, Maple Cream, Kraut, Oysters, Crackers, Pickles, Sauces, Pork and Beans, Cream Cheese and lots of other good things at Warren & Shanks'.
NOTICE.—The next issue of this paper will be printed Thursday morning instead of that night, in order that the force may devote a portion of the day to prayer and thanksgiving. Our correspondents will please note and send in their favors a day earlier.
TO-NIGHT and to-morrow night. Fun and frolic at Walton's Opera House. Good comedies by capable actors. Singing, dancing and specialties. Curtain never falls till close of performance. See it all for 10, 20 and 30c, latter for reserved seats, now on sale at W. B. McRobert's drug store.
SATURDAY was a bad day for Uncle Sam's mail handlers hereabout. Jas. L. Hendry had a bolt on his hand and Postmaster John W. Rout had to go with him on the K. C. run to do his work, while J. G. Martin, who carries the mail to Kingsville, was too ill to make the trip and had to press his pretty daughter, Miss Lillie, into service.
MY deputy, R. M. Newland, will be at the following places on the dates herein named for the purpose of receiving your '97 taxes: Mt. Salem, on Wednesday, November the 24th; Hustonville, Saturday, 27th, Tuesday, 30th. M. G. Reynolds will be at Highland, Thursday, Nov. 18th; Kingsville, Friday, 19th; Waynesburg every Saturday. This is our last year and we are compelled to finish our business by the 1st of January. You will please call on above dates; 6 per cent. penalty added Dec. 1. T. D. Newland, S. L. C. *
WILL BUY OR LEASE.—The Chicago firm, which bought the Lincoln county bonds conditionally, acknowledge receipt of the record covering the matter to Attorney J. B. Paxton, but it is so voluminous that they will not be able to report to-day their decision in the premises. The fiscal court is doing all it can under the circumstances to buy the pikes and it will either do so or lease them, consequently there is no shadow of excuse for lawlessness here. It takes time to arrange the preliminary and any overt act will delay it. The toll gate will soon be a thing of the past, but it must be gotten rid of in a lawful manner.
